Subject: NEFC Support for Taller Towers

Hello

I am voicing my strong support for the taller "gateway" towers and the BC Place Tower in the Northeast False Creek development plan.

The aesthetics of the Vancouver skyline would greatly benefit from having more peaks and valleys.

Also, given our limited land supply and the proximity to mass transit (Skytrain) building higher is the appropriate direction for Vancouver to embrace in this area.

Please do not give into a small but vocal minority who have been rattled into a frenzy against taller towers through a campaign of misinformation and fear mongering.

If anything I would like to see these towers rise above 500'.

Thank you for listening

Sincerely,

Ian Ius

Subject: Comments on 777 Pacific Boulevard (BC Place Tower 10C)

To Whom It May Concern,

For 777 Pacific Boulevard, I support this development as is. I agree with the comment that having that and the gateway towers at the same height would take away the look of the gateway. I understand there is some opposition to this tower exceeding the view cone, but I think it reduces the tabletop look that the view cones have impinged on the developments downtown (I actually feel like the city should revisit the view cones and manicure them to make the skyline more visually diverse and appealing). I would hope for low iron or a different colour glass to be used and for there to be a public art component along one of the sides of the building such as The Charleson to prevent it from looking too plain.

Regards,
Kai
