4. Defining Social Housing Consistently and Transparently in the City of Vancouver

Submitted by: Councillor Fry

WHEREAS

1. Social Housing is defined by the City of Vancouver Zoning and Development By-Law as rental housing in which at least 30 percent of the dwelling units are occupied by households with incomes below housing income limits, as set out in the current Housing Income Limits (HILs) table published by BC Housing; which is owned by a non-profit corporation, non-profit co-operative association, or by or on behalf of the City, the Province of British Columbia, or Canada; and which is secured by a housing agreement or other legal commitment; <sup>1</sup>
2. On March 15, 2014, Social Housing in the Downtown Eastside and elsewhere was re-defined by amendment after but not subject to the public hearing process; <sup>2</sup>
3. The Province of BC, through BC Housing, defines Social Housing as owned by a not-for-profit organization, a co-op or a government. Rents are subsidized (usually by the government) making it possible for people with lower incomes to find housing they can afford. Household income must be below certain limits in order to be eligible; <sup>3</sup>
4. The Government of Canada and Province of British Columbia bilateral 10 year Social Housing Agreement (June 2018) defines Social Housing as housing that is owned and operated by non-profit housing corporations and housing co-operatives or housing owned directly or indirectly by provincial, territorial or municipal governments or district social services administration boards and further distinguishes Social Housing from Affordable Rental, Affordable Homeownership, Transitional Shelter or Other Supportive Housing, and specifically commits support to 34,491 Social Housing Units, of which 20,427 are low-income; <sup>4</sup>
5. For purposes of census data, Statistics Canada defines Social Housing as “non-market rental housing” (for example, where housing allocation and rent-setting mechanisms are not entirely dictated by the law of supply and demand); <sup>5</sup>
6. The English language and urban studies variously define Social Housing as any rental housing that may be owned and managed by the state, by non-profit organizations, or by a combination of the two, usually with the aim of providing affordable housing. Social housing is generally rationed by some form of means testing or administrative measures of housing need; <sup>6</sup>

7. The City of Vancouver definition of Social Housing is inconsistent with the standard definitions employed by the Province, Government of Canada Agencies and the English-speaking world; and
8. When attempting to understand housing targets or determining the merits or public benefits of a rezoning or development application, Vancouverites may be confused or misled by the term Social Housing as defined by the City of Vancouver and applied to the entire project, not just the percent or portion of non-market affordable rental or co-op housing.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED

- A. THAT Council direct staff to review the definition of Social Housing across City regulations, and consider alternatives that refer specifically and only to non-market affordable rental or co-op housing.
- B. THAT Council direct staff to report back with a proposed new definition of Social Housing and an inventory of current housing that meets this new definition of Social Housing.
- C. THAT Council direct staff to report back on the process needed to implement any new definition of Social Housing in City regulations.
