Brightside

Brightside Community Homes Foundation

Non-Profit Affordable Housing in Vancouver since 1952

About Brightside

Brightside is a non-profit organization that provides safe and secure affordable homes for those struggling to meet the demands of market housing – specifically seniors, families and people with disabilities.

Brightside builds resilient communities, throughout Vancouver, and is one of the city's largest and longest-standing housing societies with nearly 70 years of experience. Brightside owns and manages 26 buildings comprising over 900 homes.

Our Vision

A future where people of all income levels have a home within a vibrant and healthy community.

Our Mission

To build resilient communities through Vancouver with safe and secure homes for those struggling to meet the demands of market housing.

Addressing the Need for Affordable Housing

- Vancouver renters continue to face a crisis of housing affordability. As one of Vancouver's largest and longest-standing housing societies, Brightside has seen the ever-increasing demand for non-market housing solutions, and we are proud to provide affordable rental homes for over 1000 residents.

- Our approach to housing emphasizes the building of resilient communities. It is important to us that the homes we provide meet the needs of our residents in the long-term, and allow them to age in place.

Affordable Housing

Adding much needed affordable, purpose-built rental homes in Vancouver for seniors and seniors with disabilities.

Sustainability

Pursuing Passive House Certification for a near zero emissions building and a smaller carbon footprint.
