With the ever-increasing cost of home ownership, the importance of secured rental housing becomes increasingly important. This project fits the bill - rental, access to transit, and a great mix of units, some of which will accommodate families. As a local father of 3 elementary school aged children, it is important to me that our kid's classmates and their families have access to housing options and that Vancouver continues to grow it's rental stock, with the dual purpose of replacing aging rental stock and expanding housing options for all. In addition, this project has great access to transit and provides new housing in an area where the rental supply is very dated.
