WELCOME

The Mayor acknowledged we are on the unceded homelands of the Musqueam, Squamish, and Tsleil-Waututh People. We thank them for having cared for this land and look forward to working with them in partnership as we continue to build this great city together.

The Mayor also recognized the immense contributions of the City of Vancouver's team members who work hard every day to help make our city an incredible place to live, work, and play.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT – Eid al-Fitr

The Mayor acknowledged that April 20th marked the Eid al-Fitr, the last day of Ramadan. On the day of Eid, Muslims wake up early in the morning and perform a special prayer known as Salat al-Eid. After the prayer, the day is filled with people exchanging greetings and giving to charity. Throughout the day, families and friends gather together to enjoy festive meals, exchange gifts, and spread happiness. Eid Mubarak to all those who celebrated!

IN CAMERA MEETING

MOVED by Councillor Klassen
SECONDED by Councillor Meiszner

THAT Council will go into meetings later this week which are closed to the public, pursuant to Section 165.2(1) of the Vancouver Charter, to discuss matters related to paragraphs:

- (c) labour relations or other employee relations;
- (f) law enforcement, if the Council considers that disclosure could reasonably be expected to harm the conduct of an investigation under or enforcement of an enactment;
- (g) litigation or potential litigation affecting the city;
- (i) the receipt of advice that is subject to solicitor-client privilege, including communications necessary for that purpose;
- (k) negotiations and related discussions respecting the proposed provision of an activity, work or facility that are at their preliminary stages and that, in the view of the Council, could reasonably be expected to harm the interests of the city if they were held in public.

2. Piloting a Pedestrian Scramble Crossing Trial in Vancouver

MOVED by Councillor Meiszner

SECONDED by Councillor Zhou

WHEREAS

1. Transportation decisions in Vancouver generally reflect a hierarchy of transportation modes, with walking as the top priority;
2. Increasing the walkability and accessibility of Vancouver's streets and sidewalks is a priority of the City and has been supported by successive City Councils, including measures such as sidewalk curb ramps on street corners to create access for people using wheelchairs, walkers, and strollers to enable all residents to participate fully in the community, regardless of ability; i
3. According to Walk Score, Vancouver is considered to be a "Very Walkable" city with an overall walk score of 80. Most errands can be accomplished on foot, according to Walk Score, and some areas of the city have walk scores greater than 80 such as Downtown (97), the West End (95), Fairview (93), Mount Pleasant (92), and Strathcona (92);
4. Many cities around the world use pedestrian scrambles to provide safe and accessible crossings in high-pedestrian areas. Pedestrian scrambles enhance walkability, which encourages more people to choose travel options that are active, healthy, and environmentally sustainable, while increasing foot traffic that supports local business;
5. A pedestrian scramble is an exclusive pedestrian crossing phase at a signalized intersection where vehicular movements are prohibited at all approaches while pedestrians are permitted to cross diagonally and longitudinally. The separation of vehicular and pedestrian movements is intended to reduce conflicts between the two modes; ii

6. In July 2019, the City of Vancouver implemented a trial “all-walk” crosswalk phase at Hornby and Robson whereby all vehicle traffic was stopped and pedestrians could walk from any corner at the same time within the existing painted crosswalks, around or through the four corners of Robson and Hornby Street;
7. In contrast to the “all-walk” crosswalk trial at Hornby and Robson, a traditional pedestrian scramble differs by allowing diagonal crossing in any direction through an intersection;
8. A pedestrian scramble was considered in the design stage for the Hornby and Robson trial, but the all-walk phase was chosen to provide increased walk time for pedestrians who could also proceed in the south crosswalk with eastbound left turning vehicles given that there would be no vehicle/pedestrian conflict within the south crosswalk during this phase;
9. Public interest in a traditional pedestrian scramble in Vancouver, as opposed to an all-walk crosswalk phase, is longstanding and has frequently been raised as an option during planning and consultation processes. Potential locations for pedestrian scrambles suggested by the public range from Broadway & Cambie to the crossing at 1st and Commercial;
10. Subsequent to the Hornby and Robson all-walk phase trial, staff were set to analyze the intersection operation to assess whether the longer-term roll-out would also include diagonal crossing and whether it could be a new tool for the City’s engineering action plan; iii
11. As of the current date, Vancouver has not piloted or trialed a traditional pedestrian scramble crossing, including diagonal crossing, to assess its effectiveness in the local Vancouver context and determine its value in terms of the City’s pedestrian and traffic safety best practices and enhanced mobility.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT Council direct staff to report back by the end of Q3 2023 with recommendations and potential location options for a traditional pedestrian scramble crossing pilot that includes diagonal crossing, inclusive of a range of appropriate intersection examples in the city with high levels of pedestrian traffic in order to assess the effectiveness of scramble crossings in the local Vancouver context and determine their value in terms of the City’s pedestrian and traffic safety best practices and enhanced mobility objectives.

ⁱ The City of Vancouver has long recognize the importance of sidewalk accessibility and has been installing over 200 curb ramps per year since the 1960s. There are curb ramps on more than 95% of sidewalk curbs in the downtown core.
<https://vancouver.ca/streets-transportation/pedestrian-accessibility.aspx>

ⁱⁱ Pedestrian scramble phasing is most likely to be successful and have fewer violations at intersections with large volumes of both pedestrians and motor vehicles. Pedestrian scramble phase usually creates a longer cycle length and wait between crossings.
<https://vancouver.ca/files/cov/pedestrian-safety-study-2012-final-report.pdf>

ⁱⁱⁱ A joint safety study with UBC showed a 96% reduction in vehicle-pedestrian conflicts during the Hornby and Robson all-walk phase trial. This pilot will become permanent as part of the Robson Plaza project, and a second all-walk phase crossing is to be installed on the other side of the plaza at the Howe-Robson intersection. Staff will continue to look for other suitable locations for this type of intervention. <https://council.vancouver.ca/20200707/documents/r2.pdf>

MOVED by Councillor Fry
SECONDED by Councillor Boyle

WHEREAS

1. Vancouver is committed to Vision Zero: ending all traffic-related serious injuries and fatalities in the City of Vancouver;
2. Any amount of traffic-related serious injuries or fatalities on Vancouver streets is unacceptable and the City of Vancouver should prioritize the safety and well-being of residents;
3. There is strong evidence that vehicle speed increases both the probability and severity of motor vehicle crashes, making speed reduction an important part of a larger Vision Zero strategy. Studies show that if a driver hits a pedestrian at 50 km/h, the pedestrian only has approximately a 20% chance of survival, but that their chance of survival goes up to 90% if the speed is 30 km/h;
4. In March 2023 the Schools on Arterials Slow Zones pilot launched and reduced speeds on streets beside nine Elementary Schools, with a focus on reducing accidents and improving safety for children and families. Henry Hudson Elementary School is part of this pilot, with speed reduced to 40 km/h on Cornwall Avenue between Cypress Street and Maple Street from 8:00 am - 5:00 pm on school days;
5. In light of a tragic car crash at the intersection of Cornwall Avenue and Arbutus Street on July 20, 2022, local residents are asking for Council to expand the Schools on Arterials Slow Zones pilot to protect all road users on Cornwall Avenue, recognizing that Cornwall Avenue is used to access not just Henry Hudson Elementary School, but also Henry Hudson Child Care Society preschool and daycare, Kitsilano Beach park, Kitsilano Pool, and several other key social and cultural institutions in Vancouver and the homes of thousands of residents; and

6. The Schools on Arterials Slow Zones pilot presents an opportunity to pilot an expanded reduced speed pilot further along Cornwall, from Burrard Street to Trafalgar, improving safety for thousands of residents, as well as thousands of visitors to the area during the summer months, and to collect data to inform longer term safety improvements for drivers, passengers, pedestrians, people on bikes, and micromobility users.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT Vancouver City Council direct staff to extend the Schools on Arterials Slow Zones pilot on Cornwall Avenue, specifically by reducing the speed limit for all of Cornwall Avenue (Trafalgar Street through to Burrard Street), and reducing the speed to 30 km/h at all times (24/7), and to so do by July 2023, to maximize safety benefits for thousands of summer visitors to Kitsilano Beach and Kitsilano Pool;

FURTHER THAT staff collect data on the expanded Cornwall slow zone and report back, as part of the report back on results of the pilot in Spring 2024, to make other recommendations for improving safety on Cornwall Avenue for pedestrians, people on bikes, micromobility users, drivers and passengers, including for:

- a. Improving visibility for drivers by removing parking in sections that obstruct sightlines;
- b. Consideration of adding bollards or other barriers to protect Henry Hudson Elementary School and Henry Hudson Child Care Society, as well as possible bollards on the NW corner of Cornwall and Arbutus between the sidewalk and the park space;
- c. Prohibiting left turns between 7am and 7pm, unless there is a turning lane and turn signal or an intersection controlled by stop signs, and looking to add dedicated turn phases at intersections where possible;
- d. Adding leading pedestrian intervals at all controlled crosswalks; and
- e. Working with TransLink to incorporate bus priority measures to reflect the high volume of transit riders that use this corridor and to maximize the safety benefits of transit use, including considering bus bulbs and/or bus lanes.
