It's unfair and wrong. Do you want to build a new building offering more units then the previous one to guest more people in the city? Fantastic, remember to leave some units at the same price or SLIGHTLY higher to all of those who were living in that previous building and that would still live there or simply that cannot afford anything more; the discount at the "FUTURE MARKET" price offered to those people is a mockery. Hosting these new society of wealthy people kicking out the real current heritage of what this city is, it should be considered a crime not as part of an expansion and those low/low-medium income person should be protected from that.
