2025-09-17	07:54	CD-1 Rezoning: 2110 West 5th Avenue	Oppose	The fabric of our neighbourhoods is being destroyed by towers. Kits is already dense, with multi-story units lining the streets. Why can we not build something in a similar vain? Why bring a tower, blocking views, making the already crowded streets busier, and ruining what little is left of Vancouver's soul. The Vancouver and Broadway Plans are an absolute disaster. Why are the roadways, infrastructure, schools, never considered as part of this broader planning in a city already struggling to keep up. This isn't the answer to housing, it's lazy planning by overpaid plannners.	John Olio	Downtown
2025-09-17	08:02	CD-1 Rezoning: 2110 West 5th Avenue	Oppose	Stop building high rises everywhere. The city is destroying what makes it beautiful and desirable to live in. It is proven that low rises and detached homes are better for mental health, both to live in and for neighbourhoods and communities. Towers make sense in a downtown but not scattered all over the place. Kitsilano has always been a haven of peace within the city, and it has already become congested and incredibly busy with no change in infrastructure except making life harder for residents (pay parking everywhere). Adding huge towers changes to look, feel, blocks views, and brings density that the neighbourhood cannot support. This whole plan is so obviously in favour of developers making money, and not solving anything for people who actually need homes, not tiny glass boxes.	Cathy Demaria	Kitsilano
